

All's Right With The World

In 2009, almost 17 per cent of Hong Kong's population (16.6 per cent) live in poverty, and according to the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), Hong Kong has the widest rich-poor gap of the 38 "very high human development" economies in the world.

Poverty is all around us, but do we see the impact on individuals and families? It is our responsibility as members of society to care about and to change the situation of misery for such a large number among us.

Directed by Cheung King Wai, the movie All's Right in the World (2007, 73 min.) follows five Hong Kong families of different backgrounds that receive government subsidies. How do the poor get by in a glossy city that flaunts conspicuous consumption and hides poverty in cavernous public housing estates? All's Right With The World shares the different stories of these low-income families, their daily living conditions, and their ways of celebrating Chinese New Year.

After the movie, we will have a discussion on the movie, on what Christians do regarding poverty – and on what we ourselves can do now.

About the Movie Night

The Mission Outreach and Ecumenism (MOE) ministry of KUC has begun a monthly alternative Movie Night. The Movie Night's aims are to raise funds to support the communities KUC stands in solidarity with, and at the same time raise awareness of the concerns among our communities through issue based movies.
